VOLUME 25, ISSUE I

WINTER 2014

PORT WASHINGTON'S FIRESIDE CHAT

Mary Flierl

What happened to the seven hills of Port Washington? How many grocery stores and meat markets were there in our city? What were the North Side and West Side Boosters? What was on the Canada side? Swimming pool—there was a big one called Lake Michigan!!!

What occurred at the Community Hall? Who were the town characters? A street car on Grand Avenue and Franklin Street? These are some of the topics that will be discussed at the “Fireside Chat” at the Wilson House on Saturday, January 18, starting at 1:30 pm.

There are many members who could lead a panel discussion on topics recalling the days in the past in Port Washington. Paul Hansen, Marion and Marv Huiras, Leroy Bley, Marge and Wayne Hoffmann, Lloyd Smith and Jim Lorge agreed to share their memories at the Quarterly Meeting at the Wilson House. As past Port Washington paper boys, Paul, Leroy, Wayne, Jim, and Marv had an inside story of early Port.

Audience participation is encouraged because there may be many members who will be able to contribute stories and memories to the discussion.

President's Message

Dear Members,

With the close of 2013 we look back at a year that brought us the goal of a home for the Society and a focus on development of a community museum to engage residents and visitors.

For more than two decades the Society moved from location to location, often sheltered by the generosity of members Mike Ansay and Shirli Flack. This past year that need was filled with the renovation of the historic 1852 Blake building and establishment of the Society's Resource Center. The Center provides research and archive areas, office space, gift shoppe, and several exhibit areas.

With a move to the building in January, the Franklin Street location has brought more awareness of the Society with weekly visitors and research requests. It has also provided the ability to be open four days a week for much of the year.

Last fall the east façade restoration was completed which now sports a 1900s storefront look. Stop in and check out the current exhibits for this winter. Renovation will begin this winter on the west entrance to the building.

The 1907 Henry & Hill building was acquired in Spring 2012 through the generosity of a family who desired that the city of Port Washington have a local history museum. Planning and the creation of a Museum Advisory Board have brought the Society to the renovation stage for the building. Work began in late 2013 with a projected completion goal of Fall 2014. The Port Exploreum will be a wonderful venue to showcase the history of the area and give another reason to visit the downtown.

Volunteers and the generosity of members and friends are what achievements are about. The Society could not have achieved these accomplishments without their dedication and support. Whether helping at the Light Station, Resource Center, or bringing about the realization of a local museum, volunteers and supporters make it happen. Over a hundred volunteers contributed time to the Society this past year. Our thanks to all who give of their time, talents and resources.

Sustaining the Light Station, Resource Center, and Museum will be an ongoing goal. We thank those who have so generously given to the annual fund drive, taken out a 2014 Society membership, and who will help in 2014 to make the museum happen. Fundraising efforts are a part of the sustaining drive of the Society. We thank you.

Jackie Oleson, President
PW Historical Society Board of Directors

WHERE THERE'S A WILL, THERE'S A WAY

Would you like to know about a way to make a very significant difference in the future of the Port Washington Historical Society? A powerful way is to make a bequest to the Port Washington Historical Society in your will.

The Port Washington Historical Society is a thriving organization that is dedicated to preserving the historical significance of the community and the stories of its people. You can help assure a strong future for the Society by remembering it in your will.

You can bequeath to the Port Washington Historical Society a specific amount, a percentage of your estate, or all or part of what remains after other bequests are distributed. Your attorney or other qualified estate planner can help ensure that your promise to the Port Washington Historical Society is fulfilled by appropriate instructions in your will.

If you already have a will, it can be updated with a simple amendment called a codicil.

A bequest of any amount is important to the Society's future. Indeed, where there is a will, there is a very significant way to remember the Port Washington Historical Society.

For further information, please call Board President Jackie Oleson at 262-268-9150.

THE FUTURE OF PORT WASHINGTON'S MARITIME HERITAGE FESTIVAL

This August festival has become a beautiful reflection of our city's rich maritime heritage. This heritage began with private piers and schooners that brought in supplies and the settlers of this area. Our fishing industry spanned many years and is a story all its own. Through the years this heritage festival has reminded us of our past while providing a variety of seafaring vessels for viewing, touring, and sailing.

The festival originated with strong support from many entities throughout the community. The budget to produce this festival is always a serious consideration, and volunteer support is a key component to its success.

Festival planners have always faced many challenges throughout the history of the festival, and this year will be no different. In the past the festival received generous sponsorship from Main Street and the Tourism Council. That will not happen in 2014 due to the issues that Main Street has encountered over the past year or so.

What would a Port Washington August be like without a Maritime Heritage Festival? So now the question is how to make it happen. Past volunteers have stepped forward, and we know PWHS volunteers will contribute, but more is needed. Financing is the key.

The Tourism Council has always supported the event. The city has the option to support the festival with financing. With those two entities lending financial support, the festival could move forward. The event needs to be embraced by the city and all of us who live here who want to see a weekend of our maritime heritage celebrated. Your comments to your city council can help determine the fate of the 2014 Maritime Heritage Festival.

With our new location at 205 N. Franklin Street in the heart of the downtown, we have a unique opportunity and responsibility to promote our maritime heritage. Let's make it happen.

*Geri Zehren,
Maritime Heritage Festival Chair*

MUSEUM ADVISORY BOARD REPORT

Recently, I asked Bill Schanen to develop an ad for our new museum. Although the ad has not yet run, I wanted to share this copy with all Society members.

The stories of our community, its generations of families, the achievers, entrepreneurs, athletes, warriors, farmers, fishermen, seafarers, all who left their mark on our area's history, are about to get a home in downtown Port Washington.

That home is the museum being created in the historic Businessmen's Club building on Franklin Street. Far more than a repository of historical objects and records, it will be one of the most innovative institutions of its type in America.

In it, history will come alive through interactive displays, traveling exhibits, dramatic graphic presentations, and a children's museum featuring cutting-edge technology, all in a three-story building with a ship-like deck overlooking Lake Michigan.

Dedicated to preserving the stories of Port Washington and the surrounding communities, the museum will offer the means for us to preserve our family stories. Once these stories are lost, they are gone forever. But they can live on in the museum named the Port Exploreum.

We invite you to join us in this great adventure. Learn about the Port Exploreum. Learn why you belong here.

LIGHT STATION NEWS

Rick Smith

The light station has been cleaned from ceiling to floors including woodwork. The floors have been cleaned and polished in anticipation of our next season. There is some painting to be done on the upper floors and the lantern, but that will have to wait until warmer weather. Alice Horton donated a Bolens snow blower which is certainly coming in handy this winter.

RESOURCE CENTER UPDATE

With renovation of the east façade of the Resource Center completed in November of 2013 and a general cleaning done, exhibits were returned to the front of the first level. Currently, during the winter months, the exhibits are: Smith Bros. Restaurant, Smith Bros. Commercial Fishing, and the Wisconsin Chair Company and Paramount Records.

Smith Bros. Restaurant display

Volunteers Kathie Schaefer and Irene Taylor worked to create storyboards of text and photos to tell the stories of the exhibits. Ron Voigt assisted.

These exhibit areas will change later in spring to reflect a maritime theme for the summer and fall months.

Paramount Records exhibit

Smith Bros. Commercial Fishing exhibit

Blake Family display

The Blake corner will continue to tell the story of the Blake family and their impact on the community.

Members and visitors are invited to come and view the displays.
